It's Blackheath's 67th Rhodo Festival!

Winter is most definitely over (we write, hopefully) and Blackheath Pool opens on Saturday November 2 with a Festival of Chalk Art for Rhodo Day. Festivities start at 9:00 am with the crowning of Rhodo Royalty at 10:30 am, the Grand Parade at 11:30 am and a full day of activities throughout Blackheath, including a Poet's Breakfast, circus skills and the traditional wood chopping, roof bolting and coal shovelling competitions.

There will also be a combined churches Festival of Flowers on Saturday and Open Gardens on Sunday at Allendale and Blackheath Community Farm. Throughout our month-long festival Devonshire teas will be served at the beautiful Campbell Rhododendron Gardens. For details about all these events and more, visit:

Glumbooks – The Musical

Each year Blackheathens look forward to seeing how their creative writers and performers magically transform the events of the previous year into a rollicking night of humour and entertainment for the annual Rhodo Revue. This year, Glumbooks – The Musical, brings together many of last year's talented team, including Linda McLaughlin, who has now written and directed the Revue a dozen times! Each time, she brilliantly and affectionately digs beneath the surface of Blackheath and weaves together often very disparate issues, events, and characters to create a hysterically funny story, always full of surprises, that reflects the year back to everyone and uses humour to connect us all. This year, one source of Linda's inspiration came from Artur Rubinstein, who said "I have found that if you love life, life will love you back." As you're bound to discover, the same applies for Blackheath!
